Why you might want to go on one of our Courses

Some of the greatest challenges faced by governments and businesses today are concerned with energy. It is now widely accepted that there needs to be a shift in the way we think about this valuable resource, both where it comes from and how we use it.

This essentially means that there is a growing need for a better use of the existing fossil resources. This presents a significant opportunity for businesses and individuals who have expertise in this field.

Energy Redefined was set up in 2009 to help companies in the energy arena understand future business opportunities. We have provided advice, data and analysis to some of the leading lights in this field and now we are now offering training materials to enable you to start this transition.
